

Table with multiple columns containing names of companies and individuals, their identification numbers, and dates. The entries are organized in a grid-like structure, with some rows containing multiple entries for a single date.