

Table with multiple columns containing names of companies and individuals, their identification numbers, and dates. The entries are organized into a grid-like structure with varying column widths.