

Table with multiple columns containing names, dates, times, and numerical identifiers. The data is organized in a grid format, with each row representing a specific entry or record.