

Table with multiple columns containing administrative records, including names, processes, dates, and suspension periods. The table is organized into several vertical columns, each containing a list of entries.

