

Table with 20 columns of numerical data. The data is organized into two groups: the first group contains numbers from 9226 to 1385, and the second group contains numbers from 5339 to 9630. Each row represents a specific data entry, with some numbers appearing as multiple entries for the same row index.